Goodwill Industries of Central North Carolina, Inc. Looks to Put People to Work in Oak Ridge

GICNC to Host Career Fair for Local Talent to Staff Future Retail Store and Career Center in Oak Ridge

GREENSBORO, NC – Goodwill Industries of Central North Carolina, Inc. (GICNC), a leader in providing career services and work opportunities to local individuals with employment needs, will host a career fair on Thursday, December 29 at its upcoming retail store and career center in Oak Ridge, slated to open in late February 2012.

GICNC is looking for retail and career services professionals to staff both facilities that will house a retail store selling clothing and home goods, and the second Career Center to operate in Guilford County, which will offer a computer lab setting and provide free Internet access, community workshops and on-site career counseling. The first Career Center opened in April at 3519 North Elm Street in Greensboro, and has since served more than 500 visitors with almost 50 people reporting job placements.

Job seekers surrounding the Oak Ridge community are especially invited to attend the career fair to network directly with GICNC recruiters and learn about employment opportunities.

The career fair is open to non-working job seekers and those looking for supplemental employment. Interested attendees should dress suitably for a job interview and bring copies of their resume if available. Visit www.TriadGoodwill.org for an affordable business attire resource, and for free resources including resume writing, interviewing techniques and other career readiness skills.
